Dynamic vs.
Static Weight

Static weight is the maximum load a chair can support when weight is evenly distributed and the chair is stationary. Dynamic weight considers the added stress from everyday movement like sitting down, shifting, reclining, or rolling.

Desks & Storage, Simplified.

Everything you need to build an organized, efficient workspace. From hardworking desks to smart storage solutions, designed to support focus, function, and flow.

Strength You Can Rely On

Steel frames provide the structural strength that keeps desks stable and dependable through years of daily use. Resistant to bending and wear, steel construction helps maintain a solid work surface while supporting the demands of busy office environments.
